

Department of Communication
Faculty of Arts and Science

Professor in Communication

The Department of Communication invites applications for a full-time tenure-track position as Assistant Professor in Communication.

Responsibilities

Successful candidates will be expected to teach at all three levels of the curriculum, supervise graduate students, engage in ongoing research and publication, and contribute to the academic life and reputation of the institution.

Requirements

- PhD (or near completion) in Communication or in a related field.
- Evidence of dynamism and creativity in teaching and pedagogy.
- Research interests and relevant research experience in issues related to contemporary transformations of digital media and technologies (social media, blogs, networks, microblogging, etc.), which pervade all the spheres of Quebec and Canadian society: for instance new forms of web journalism, the latest challenges facing communications industries, various challenges related to e-commerce, political activism on the Web, or the convergence of media institutions.
- Methodological competencies: candidates with an expertise in quantitative analysis (online surveys, network analysis, online interaction analysis, social statistics) will be given preference.
- Proficiency in the French language. The Université de Montréal is a Québec university with an international reputation. French is the language of instruction. To revitalize its teaching faculty, the University is intensively recruiting the world's best specialists. In accordance with the institution's language policy [http://www.direction.umontreal.ca/secgen/recueil/politique\_linguistique.html], the Université de Montréal provides support for newly-recruited faculty to attain proficiency in French.

Salary

The Université de Montréal offers a competitive salary and a complete range of employee benefits.

Starting Date

From June 1, 2013.

Deadline

The complete application, including a cover letter, curriculum vitae, copies of recent publications and research, evidence of teaching effectiveness and a statement of research and teaching interests, must be received at the address below by October 15, 2012.

Three letters of recommendation are to be sent to the department director at the following address:
