

GLOBALIZATION AND GLOBAL HISTORY

International Ph-D workshop Co-organised by

The Doctoral School in Social Sciences ED 483 and the International PhD Study Program
« IPP Transnationalization and Regionalization from the 18th Century to the Present » /
Global and European Studies Institute / Frankreichzentrum from the University of Leipzig

Wednesday 13th afternoon : Amphithéâtre Marc Bloch

Thursday 14th morning : Salle Elise Rivet

Institut des Sciences de l'Homme de Lyon

14 Avenue Betherlot – 69 007 Lyon

Globalization has become a buzzword for all social and historical sciences. It nevertheless introduces new regimes of historicity and territoriality of societies. With concepts such as “world-society”, or “global culture” or “global systems”, Globalization theories have first and foremost focused upon the forms of globalization. Historical dynamics have nevertheless always shaped theoretical models of “globalization”. The rise of a “Global history” aligning with the “Global Turn” in social sciences and humanities supposes a cross-examination of the epistemological and methodological outcomes. The relocation of social sciences on the “local” and the opposite, yet corresponding, recalling of the “global” by historical sciences unveil a series of crucial debates on the very nature of History (as a site of investigation and as a narrative) and the new ways of tackling historical issues. Because Globalization has become a conceptual problem and the source of epistemological discussions in almost all social sciences and humanities, this international workshop aims at questioning the changes (in scales, temporality) of historical research (or research on history) from different disciplinary viewpoints: sociology, history, anthropology and so on. The final purpose of this workshop is to offer a polylogical arena for researchers and Ph-D candidates on topical theme - globalization.

Opened to every Ph-D candidate, teachers and researchers

Contact : Prof. Lionel Obadia, director of the doctoral school of Social Sciences of Lyon / Saint-Etienne. Lionel.obadia@univ-lyon2.fr

Program

Wednesday 13th February : Amphithéâtre Marc Bloch (ISH- Lyon)

14 : 00

Welcoming participants

14 : 15

Introduction to the doctoral training and presentation of the international workshop

14: 30

Matthias Middel (Leipzig) The regimes of territorialization in Global History

15: 00

Lionel Obadia (Lyon) The meaning of Globalization and the idea of Global History in Anthropology: prospects and resistances

15: 30

Discussion on the papers and pause

16 : 00

Ulf Engel (Leipzig): Respacing Africa: Critical Junctures of Globalization

16 : 30

Philippe Bordes (Lyon): The Politics of Global Art History

17 : 00 -17 : 15

Discussion on the papers

17 : 15 – 18 : 00

Global discussion

Thursday 14th February : Salle Elise Rivet (ISH-Lyon)

10 : 00

Katja Naumann (Leipzig) World/ Global History in the US: the institutional contexts of its emergence and change

10 : 30

Herve Joly (Lyon): An Industrial Family facing up Globalization

11: 00 – 11: 30

Discussion on the papers and pause

11: 30

Kathleen Schluetter (Leipzig) The Transnationalization of Higher Education and Research in France

12 : 00

Alain-Marc Rieu (Lyon) The Epistemology of Global studies and of Global History

12 : 30

Discussion on the papers and global discussion