1st Iberian Colloquium on Landscape
The study and design of landscape as a methodological problem

16th and 17th of March 2017
Lisbon, Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, Auditorium 3

Landscapes present themselves as sceneries we have inherited, where we live, and from where we draw the resources needed to subsist as a civilisation and as a species. The result of our actions on this heritage will be the legacy to our descendants.

In the beginning of the third millennium – and given the fact that we live in a society under cultural changes occurring at speeds much higher than the necessary to perceive, meditate and experiment – the interest in the topic of landscape is increasingly important, transforming this discipline in a research platform where several fields of knowledge intersect.

The aim of this colloquium is to reflect about the diversity of multidisciplinary aspects, analytical methods, and intervention techniques related to the study of landscape, establishing a forum focused on the future relationship between humanity and landscape.

The colloquium is organised by the Institute of Contemporary History of the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities of the Universidade NOVA de Lisboa, with the support from the Escola Superior Gallaecia, the Estoril Higher Institute for Tourism and Hotel Studies (ESHTE), the Escuela Técnica Superior de Arquitectura de la Universidad Politécnica de Madrid, and the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation.

Call for papers

We invite you to submit paper proposals for the 1st Iberian Colloquium on Landscape – The study and construction of landscape as a methodological problem, taking place in Lisbon at the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation on the 16th and 17th of March 2017.

Proposals should be submitted until midnight (Lisbon), 28th of November 2016.

The proposal may be written in Portuguese, Spanish or English, and should include a Title, an Abstract, and five Keywords. Abstracts should be max. 700 words in length (font Arial 10, 1.5 line spaces, 3 cm side margins, 3 cm to margin, and 2 cm bottom margin) and address topics such as Landscape and Culture, Landscape History, Landscape and Natural Resources, Landscape Design, Landscape and Architectural Heritage, Art and Landscape or Virtual Landscape.
In the proposal, you should include your name, institutional affiliation, and email, as well as a brief biographical note (under 200 words).

Proposals must be submitted through the email cip.lisboa2017@gmail.com until midnight, 28th of November 2016. Results will be announced until the 19th of December 2016.

The speakers with accepted talks should submit the full text for publishing (with ISBN) (limited to 7500 words) until the 31st of January 2017. The guidelines will be sent to the authors upon acceptance of the proposal.

Talks will have a maximum duration of 15 minutes and no Skype/videoconferences will be allowed.
