REGIONS AND REGIONALISM IN THE EU

Erasmus+

The EURÉGIO project deals with regions and regionalism in the European Union. It addresses regions as territorial units and socio-political entities situated at an intermediate scale, between the local and State (central, federal) levels. At a time of regional reform in France, the objectives are to appraise the knowledge, foster the debate and consider the evolutions of regions and regionalism in the context of the European construction, with examples and illustrations from the member-States of the European Union.

The project is based on a network of academic, professional stakeholders and civil partners developed by University of Lille 1, one of the most internationalised universities in France. The project is particularly linked to the master curriculum EUROStudies (European Studies for Territorial and Urban Development), within the master in Urbanism and Planning (Lille Institute of Planning and Urbanism, University of Lille 1).

The project combines teaching, research and public events with project partners. Several deliverables for diffusion and dissemination will impact on target groups : scientific and academic publications, reports on the events and activities, outcomes of the student workshops linked with the labour market and conference in order to engage dialogue with civil society.

The thematic is approached with 3 key-words that correspond to 3 Lille Jean Monnet Workshops (2JML) :

- Diversity (of regions) : Thursday 21st April 2016
- Complementarity (of regional governance) : Wednesday 7th December 2016
- Cooperation (between regions) : Wednesday 26th April 2017

These reflections will be developed and enriched all through the additional activities of the project and in the final Lille Jean Monnet Conference which will be held on Monday 26st and Tuesday 27th June 2017.
